Do birds know how to come back home after a long flight? Bird scientists, known as ornithologists, say that birds know exactly where they are and where their nests are. Even the young ones can fly hundred of nautical miles without losing their way. How do they do it ? God has given them a tremendous sense of direction; possibly they have a compass of sorts in their brain. Every year, we can see birds from north India fly to south. In India we have several bird sanctuaries where birds from both part of globe come, spend a few months and return when the climatic condition in their homeland are more favourable. When it is winter in the northern hemisphere, it is summer in southern hemisphere. The birds which cannot stand the cold climate fly to warmer regions. They are called migratory birds. They can fly non-stop up to twenty hours or so in one stretch and cover a few hundred miles in one stop. The migratory birds always fly in groups.

1. How long can migratory birds fly?
2. Do the migratory birds fly single or in groups?
3. Are the seasons the same in both the hemispheres?
4. Why do we call some birds migratory?
5. Who is an ornithologist?
